PRIMARY INDUSTRIES.

Effect of Rain on Primary Industries.

The economic aspect of the rain which has been falling over the last few weeks has been of great benefit to the primary industries of the State, and has resulted in a large increase in the production of wool, wheat, and other crops.

The State Government has taken steps to ensure that the rain will be used to the fullest extent possible, and has provided funds for the purchase of irrigation equipment.

The rain has also had a beneficial effect on the health of the State's inhabitants, and has resulted in a decrease in the incidence of disease.
