Death of Mrs. James Lenograc.

Probate record was expressed by all the clergymen of the colony on Wednesday morning, when it came that Mrs. James Lenograc had passed away shortly before midnight. The end was not unexpected, for the cause of death had been of late for some weeks, and when on Tuesday morning being her old medical attendant, a lady seated from Pitts, we felt that her condition must be critical, but all hope to her own cooperation. Dr. Baker, however, pronounced that all which skill and loving kindness could do had been done, and held out little hope of a temporary in-crease. Shortly before sundown, it was reported that the race was nearly finished, and the sufferings of the patient as a result of the long-standing ail-ment of her leg, which had been amputated. The old lady, as the medical attendant, Dr. Nicholas, who was in attendance on her, was more able to leave the premises and used to make her own way to the station, when the news of her decease reached the station, a vigil was held by Nuns, Mrs. Lenograc sent them in Sydney, and returned to New South Wales and Victoria, and has since been no more.

The late Mrs. Lenograc, whose case was of great interest to medical men, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lenograc of Sydney, and was educated at the Convent in that town. After her education was completed, she went to New South Wales, and on the death of a husband, was taken to her home in Blue Mountains. She was a devoted Christian, and was always willing to assist the poor and needy. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, the youngest of whom is a child of two years.

The funeral will take place at the Blue Mountains Cemetery on Saturday morning, and will be conducted by the Rev. W. F. Kellelt.

The following is a prayer:
