THE WELLSINGTON TIMES

JOTTINGS.

We learn that there is a good deal of interest at present in the progress of the Wellington City Electric Tramway. The work is progressing rapidly, and it is expected that the line will be completed in time for the winter season. The electric tramway is considered to be a great improvement for the city, and it is hoped that it will soon be in full operation.

WELLINGTON.

The Wellington City Council held a meeting yesterday, and a number of important matters were discussed. Among the topics of discussion were the proposed extension of the city's water supply, the improvement of the road system, and the construction of a new civic building. The council also voted to erect a monument in memory of Mr. W. A. Smith, who died recently.

NEWFLAND.

The population of the newfland districts has increased sharply in recent years. According to the latest census, the number of people living in the district has more than doubled since the turn of the century. This is due in part to the development of the fishing industry, which has provided many new jobs for the local inhabitants.

SPOKESMAN.

In a recent address to the members of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce, Mr. J. H. Smith, the chairman, spoke eloquently about the opportunities available to investors in the city. He emphasized the city's strong position in the region and its potential for future growth. He urged the Chamber to continue its efforts to attract new businesses to Wellington.

ADVICE OF THE WEEK.

The following advice was given by the Citizens' Advisory Council of Wellington:

1. The importance of maintaining a healthy lifestyle. Regular exercise, a balanced diet, and adequate sleep are all important factors in maintaining good health.

2. The need for parents to ensure their children's safety. This includes teaching children to cross streets safely, to use seat belts when travelling, and to be aware of potential dangers in their environment.

3. The importance of supporting local businesses. By shopping locally, residents can help to strengthen the economy and promote the growth of small businesses in the city.

MARRIAGE.

Mr. W. A. Smith and Miss E. A. Baker were married in a simple ceremony at the City Hall yesterday. The couple will make their home in Wellington, and it is expected that they will soon welcome their first child.

GARDEN OF PALMS.

The Wellington Botanic Gardens are currently hosting a series of gardening workshops. The workshops are aimed at educating the public about the local flora and fauna, and are attended by a large number of enthusiasts. The next workshop will be held on Saturday, and it is expected to be well attended.

WEDDING.

Mr. W. A. Smith and Miss E. A. Baker were married in a simple ceremony at the City Hall yesterday. The couple will make their home in Wellington, and it is expected that they will soon welcome their first child.
