THE AUSTRALIAN WORKER, THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1944

WHAT WE FIGHT FOR.

PRESENTATION TO MRS. DWYER.

THE TURF.

NEWBRAY AND AUSTRALIAN CUP.

MELBOURNE RACING.

NEW AND NOTES.

SOUTH AFRICAN STRIKE.

THE WORKER.

BRIEF LOCAL NOTES.

[Continued from Page 3]

MRS. KATE DWYER.

(Coimted from Page 13)

The American "hurry-up" system is getting into our factories, and its effects are noticeable in the nursing service.

Mrs. Dwyer was a member of the Royal Commission that investigated the conditions of factory workers in New South Wales, and none of them found a worse case of the system than in the nursing service.

At the present moment she is one of the four women appointed by the present Government to the Royal Commission on the Women's Association of New South Wales, and to the Royal Commission on the Women's Development in the Commonwealth of Australia, and an intensive investigation is being carried out of the conditions of factory work for women.

It is interesting to note that the nurses have always been one of the most active and energetic groups in the working-class movement, and it is quite likely that the nurses will play an important part in the future of the labour movement.

The hospital for children established by the Government at Geelong is already overcrowded with women who are seeking admission.

There are a large number of women who are seeking admission to the hospital for children at Geelong, and it is quite likely that the hospital will be completely filled with women who are seeking admission in the near future.

It is interesting to note that the nurses have always been one of the most active and energetic groups in the working-class movement, and it is quite likely that the nurses will play an important part in the future of the labour movement.

The hospital for children established by the Government at Geelong is already overcrowded with women who are seeking admission.

The nurses have always been one of the most active and energetic groups in the working-class movement, and it is quite likely that the nurses will play an important part in the future of the labour movement.

The hospital for children established by the Government at Geelong is already overcrowded with women who are seeking admission.

It is interesting to note that the nurses have always been one of the most active and energetic groups in the working-class movement, and it is quite likely that the nurses will play an important part in the future of the labour movement.

The nurses have always been one of the most active and energetic groups in the working-class movement, and it is quite likely that the nurses will play an important part in the future of the labour movement.