AUSTRALIAN SEASONS.

The British Naval Board, under the chairman of Lord Tennyson, has purchased the trawler 'Tuna' in order to carry out an experiment with regard to the use of the new type of trawler in the southern waters of the South Indian Ocean. The experiment is to be conducted under the direction of the British Board of Trade, and is expected to last for three years. The trawler is equipped with the latest type of machinery, and is expected to be ready for sea in the middle of this month.
