FRUIT EXPORTS

Expansion Hopes

A healthy future for the fruit industry of this district seems assured by the fruit growers' association of Warragul, Vic., which is being strongly supported by the people of the district. The association aims to promote the sale of fruit and to keep the price of fruit high. It is hoped that the association will be able to secure a better market for the fruit of the district, and it is hoped that the association will be able to secure a better market for the fruit of the district.

WILD PICS

Killers of Sheep

It seems that there is just one place where wild pigs are not a menace, and that is in the cold and icy mountains. On the other hand, they are a menace in the warm and sunny climate of the tropics, where they are able to breed prolifically. It is hoped that wild pigs will be eradicated from the tropics, and that they will not be allowed to spread to other parts of the world.

THE GARDEN

OLD FLOWER MEN AND NEW ASTERS

Seed Saving Simplified

There is a lot of nonsense talked about the value of old flower men and new asters, but it seems that there is a great deal of nonsense talked about the value of old flower men and new asters. It is hoped that the new asters will be saved, and that they will be grown with care and attention.

Wool Away

WHERE IT GOES TO

Interesting Figures

The effect of the price of wool on the economy of Australia is shown in the following figures:

- In 1934, the price of wool was 50 cents per pound.
- In 1935, the price of wool was £1 per pound.
- In 1936, the price of wool was £2 per pound.

The figures show the great effect that the price of wool has on the economy of Australia.

Old-Time Parson

Converted Miners

When Hill End Boomed

There are very few, if any, examples in the history of mining where the miners were able to convert their mining operations to successful farming operations. The case of Hill End is one of the few examples that can be cited as successful. The Hill End boom was a very successful mining boom, and it is hoped that the miners of the future will be able to convert their mining operations to successful farming operations.
