SPRING HILL—AN HISTORIC SUBURB.

GROWTH FROM EARLY DAYS.

Progress and Transformation of a Century.

The historic suburb of Spring Hill, which claims associations with the City of Brisbane from its earliest days, has undergone a wonderful transformation in a century of progress, the first building—the Observatory—having been erected in 1829. With glorious heights and uninterupted views, and the city lying immediately beneath it, few suburbs can compete with Spring Hill for its pleasant surroundings. From woodland and gravel above it has registered steady growth, until to-day it is a seat of learning, a blooming public school and church.

The growth of the suburb has been of a future nature, and now by Mr. Ralph C. Smith.

A general view of the suburb Spring Hill, taken from the city side of Leichhardt-street.
