Town Water Supply Low: Users Urged To "Cut Consumption"

Unless greater economy is exercised in the use of water in the area under the jurisdiction of the Taree Municipal Council, the restrictions already in force will be drastically extended in order to reduce consumption to the barest essentials.

A decision to this effect was made at a special meeting of the Council on Wednesday morning, after the supply position had been reviewed. The Town Clerk (Mr. R. H. Hewitt) told the Council that following the banning of the use of fixed hoses and sprinklers last week, the level in the reservoirs at Koolangah had been held at about six feet.

The Mayor (Councillor E. H. Steward) said that while it was true that the water levels in the main reservoirs were not very low, the Council had decided to impose severe restrictions in order to ensure a regular supply of water for the remaining months of the year.

Mr. Hewitt said that the Council was now considering the possibility of importing water from other areas, but that this would be a last resort. He urged all users to take immediate steps to conserve water and to avoid the need for any further restrictions.
