George Morphett beg to inform General Committees in South Australia that he has been appointed an AGENT for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, and is therefore willing to act for that body in the interests of the Society, and in a stated number of places and districts in the colony, for which he has a most encouraging prospect of success. He has therefore been appointed Agent for the Sanitary Institute, and is in constant communication with the Agent for the Society, and will be happy in forwarding any business which the Agents for these bodies may require to be done in the colony. He has, in addition, the whole of the buildings, Chancery lane, London, Oct., 1860.
