STATE'S POWERS

ARGUMENT IN PRIVY COUNCIL APPEAL.

MAY ALTER CONSTITUTION, SAYS LATHAM.

NEW SOUTH WALES UPPER HOUSE CASE.

CONTROL BY REFERENDUM SUPPORTED.

LONDON, April 25. The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today continued in hearing of the New South Wales Upper House appeal.

In the course of his opening Mr. J. G. Latham (Attorney-General of the Commonwealth of Australia) submitted that there was full power in the New South Wales legislature to legislate in the manner prescribed by Section 7 of the Constitution Act of 1902.

Later, Sr. Thomas Jocky (British Attorney-General), before handing his address to the committee, said: "If I shall say in this case that the New South Wales legislature had ample power to alter as it thought fit the Constitution entrusted to it."

Mr. J. G. Latham submitted that the appeal was for an excess exercise of the powers of the Privy Council. Mr. J. G. Latham, in the opinion of the committee, the legal state of affairs would be on the basis of the Government.
