health has been gradually 'breaking up,' and he passed away peacefully on Tuesday last in his residence in Wellington. His age was 70 years. He leaves behind a widow, sister, and numerous other relatives.

The interment takes place this afternoon, and the remains of the deceased will be conveyed to a military cemetery.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE FACTS.

Str.-Some 'few months ago a resident of this town called my attention to the fact that the owners could not be found for two blocks of land, and that no rents were being paid on them, also that there was another originally belonging to four people, none of whom would pay the rates. He told me he was jumping one and I told him, then, I will do a little for the other, but try will find and the owners and deliver up possession on their paying me the amount paid for rents, etc. I wrote to the two parties I could discover who had an interest in the land, informing them what I had done and offering to buy their interest or receive a notice of valid poss by me for delivery up possession. I also told the Town Clerk that I should do this when I paid the rates. He advised me to get information of erecting any building on either block, but the other parties represent rapacious informers that I had intended to jump one lot over and under the town, for which I consider I was justified in doing likewise, after I had paid the rates, as I certainly had a better right to it than he had.

In reply to "A Reapayer," I beg to inform him the first step is not an ounce less an unlimited individual, not as from which office I received the notice, I also intend to strike one until the rightful owner is found and buy the other if possible. I also intend to allow the unmarried parents and parents-in-the-town— as may be decided by the two clergymen and their wives. I live in the house renting free for the next twelve years or until the rightful owner shall be found. Years truly,

H. A. SPALDING

October 26, 1853.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION

The first of a series of popular entertainments under the auspices of the Women's Temperance Union, given in the Working Men's Hall last night, was a grand success. The following are present in the present thoroughly satisfactory condition. The Misses Brooking Rose and Mrs. Mason, Harmon, Mason and Kenton, the Union, and its present very satisfactory condition. The Misses Brooking Rose and Mrs. Mason, Harmon, Mason and Kenton, the Union, and its present very satisfactory condition. The Misses Brooking Rose and Mrs. Mason, Harmon, Mason and Kenton, the Union, and its present very satisfactory condition. The Misses Brooking Rose and Mrs. Mason, Harmon, Mason and Kenton, the Union, and its present very satisfactory condition. The Misses Brooking Rose and Mrs. Mason, Harmon, Mason and Kenton, the Union, and its present very satisfactory condition.

TELEGRAMS.

LONDON, October 24th.

The Vatican has issued an imprimatur decree, withdrawing its support from the French Royalists, and stating that in future it will cordially support the French Republic. Much excitement has been occasioned in Paris by the announcement. Many Catholics boldly declaring that the Pope has lost his reason.

The Queen intends to open a new hospital. Her health is reported to be very good and anxiety and declining.

The Council will shortly be addressed to Princess Mary of Greece.

The German Government has appointed a secret commission with the object of inquiring into the spread of Socialism in the army.

A British man-of-war visiting Vladivostock has rescued the crew of the Canadian protected vessel "Jubilee." The Russian warship "Zelazko." The Russian authorises this command to be made and should be instantly recalled.

Flamboyant disturbances are reported from Yellow River, whole province has been inundated. Fifty thousand lives have been lost.

Jam Hall has agreed to fight Flannimon in April next, at Corney Island, for a stake of sixteen thousand dollars.

MELBOURNE, October 25th.

A serious decline is reported in the Crescent. A man, 40 years of age, who was fighting for two boys, both white while playing with a gun near Barwood, was accidentally shot the other day. A verdict was returned of accidental death.

BRISBANE, October 25th.

A double engagement—George Glesdon and Leonard Monson—took place this morning. Both died instantly. Glesdon was condemned for the murder of Patrick McKean at Gootwood, and Monson killed a black boy at Thursday Island under revolting circumstances.

Chief Justice Liley intends retiring from the Bench owing to ill health.

ROOKES HILL, October 25th.

A prolongation of the strikes is causing much uneasiness. Free labourers are giving much satisfaction at the mines, many of those being fully supplied.

The trials of the labourers at Deniliquin for conspiracy is being continued and will last for several days.

ADelaide, October 25th.

The policy of the Government will be announced by Sir John Downer in the Assembly, which is looked forward to with much interest.

The railway revenue is declining owing to the effect of the strikes.

The Daily Advertiser, Wednesday, October 26, 1853.

The following horses remain in the Melbourne Cup after the final forfeit:—

The Newcastle (W. A.) Races held yesterday were successful and well attended. Wandering Willie won the Newmarket Handicap, easily.

Mr. Charles Cuttson has presented a cup, worth £50, to the memory of a gentleman among the senior cricket clubs of Perth and Fremantle.

LADY CHAMBERLAIN.

To the Editor.

Str.—I notice at a recent concert held lately at Geraldton the larrikin element has been introduced to the delightment of players and spectators. I think it may be doubted whether this would not be the most effective method of increasing the opera, and it may state that amateur ladies and gentlemen are there. Fitzsimmons, the drummer, is reports the present state of the world ever saw. Some say he has no devil in him. True enough, as a man he is good tempered and gentlemanly, but to his boxing and cunning. He can be as savage as a bear, and when he gets his wind, he is a real tiger, and a cinque, a stirrup. His reach! With arms extended, he measures them as if he had to fight a Tartar. He began to get a reputation. One day a big bully swaggered in. "I've heard a lot about you, Fitzsimmons," he said. "I want to fight him!" "Now," I say, "you have the bigger name; he has done nothing to you. I don't want you, I want to fight the other fellow." The visitor went out in the second round. In training, Jackson is the cleverer, but out of conditions, absolutely the worst. I'd like to train him to fight Coburn. Coburn is a hand- some fellow. He reminds me that Apollo was a good god with his feet. His victory over Sulivan was in a critical. When in Australia, confused to me, I'm done; I don't want to see anyone fight any more. I've seen 50 rounds, but I also know that Jackson was very tick at the time. Jackson would have beaten Blair in a fair fight been under P.R. rules. Blair, when fighting, is as furious as a dog, and Jackson is that dog. He bit Jackson on the shoulder the night they had the fight. It was a terrible rumble; he could hardly stand it— a live punching-bag for Jackson, nothing more. I think I see the bigger grinning monkey running me again, but no!—do you understand?—Screw of people is talking to follow in this article, and I wish to be called a white man."

PETER JACKSON.

Says Larry Foley, the pugilistic tutor of the world's most celebrated boxer: "All that Mars taught me, and all I know, I've put to Peter Jackson. Now! The nigger is the present state of the world ever saw. Some say he has no devil in him. True enough, as a man he is good tempered and gentlemanly, but to his boxing and cunning. He can be as savage as a bear, and when he gets his wind, he is a real tiger, and a cinque, a stirrup. His reach! With arms extended, he measures them as if he had to fight a Tartar. He began to get a reputation. One day a big bully swaggered in. "I've heard a lot about you, Fitzsimmons," he said. "I want to fight him!" "Now," I say, "you have the bigger name; he has done nothing to you. I don't want you, I want to fight the other fellow." The visitor went out in the second round. In training, Jackson is the cleverer, but out of conditions, absolutely the worst. I'd like to train him to fight Coburn. Coburn is a handsome fellow. He reminds me that Apollo was a good god with his feet. His victory over Sulivan was in a critical. When in Australia, confused to me, I'm done; I don't want to see anyone fight any more. I've seen 50 rounds, but I also know that Jackson was very tick at the time. Jackson would have beaten Blair in a fair fight been under P.R. rules. Blair, when fighting, is as furious as a dog, and Jackson is that dog. He bit Jackson on the shoulder the night they had the fight. It was a terrible rumble; he could hardly stand it— a live punching-bag for Jackson, nothing more. I think I see the bigger grinning monkey running me again, but no!—do you understand?—Screw of people is talking to follow in this article, and I wish to be called a white man."

Peter Jackson.

Walter Pelzer, a young man, of whom I have been speaking in the last number, has been found guilty of murder. The nature of the crime will be published.