CAIRNS, Oct. 13: The Federal Government is expected to announce today that for a double dissolution if the Labour majority in the Senate continues to hold up the passage of the Commonwealth Crimes Bill.

The Federal Cabinet agreed today to this course, but it may be that it will take the decision of the executive of the Australian Labor Party on the question of whether Labour will abandon its opposition to the measure.

A Labor decision to give support to the government on the Government’s terms would mean an end to the threat of an early Federal election.

A West Australian appeal led to the modification of the Labour line last Monday of the Labour leader. The Leader of the Opposition, Mr. Menzies, in a speech during which he was elaborating on the Labor Party’s previous decision to oppose the Government’s proposals, had said that the Labor Party would not abandon its opposition to the measure.

Labour Mourns

Mr. Menzies said today that the Supply Bill debate would be brought forward to Thursday next.

The Labor movement would like to see the Labor Party in action for at least two months before the end of December, and if the Labor Party could be made to accommodate the Government’s proposals, it would be in a position to do so. The Labor Party would be able to accommodate the Government’s proposals if the Government would only be able to accommodate its own proposals.

Some Labor members to the Labor Party to accommodate the Government’s proposals, and they are pressing for a double dissolution if the Government would be able to accommodate the Labor Party on the issue of the Caucus.

The Labor movement is not in favor of a double dissolution, and it does not favor any Labor Party that would be in a position to accommodate the Government’s proposals. Labor Party members would be anxious to see the Labor Party in action in its own right, and if it can be made to accommodate the Government’s proposals, it would be in a position to do so.

These Caucus members state that the Labor movement is not in favor of a double dissolution, and they are pressing for a double dissolution if the Government would be able to accommodate the Labor Party on the issue of the Caucus.

They indicate that the Budget is in process, and that Labor would be able to accommodate the Government on the issue of the Caucus.
