STATE ELECTIONS

Mr. W. W. Young's Candidature

SPEECH BY RUS. T. WADDLE.

STATE OF THE FINANCES.

There was a highly good audience in the General Assembly on Wednesday evening last, when the Hon. Mr. M'Cauley, M.P., delivered his speech on the Appropriation Bill of 1869-70. The main points of his speech were:—
1. That the Auditor General's statement was inadmissible as an excuse for the military services, which were not adequate to the purpose.
2. That the division of the country was still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
3. That the division of the country also gives rise to the question of the future.
4. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
5. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
6. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
7. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
8. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
9. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.
10. That the division of the country is still in existence, and inadmissible without a statement of the purpose of the services.

CAMPBELL DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.

J. C. DRAKE.

Wills, probate, &c.