MacArthur and President: "Fulgurant Any Assigned Duty"

Arrangements For Anzac Day Commemoration

The arrangements for the commemoration of Anzac Day, April 25, will be made later this week. It is anticipated that a high proportion of the Commonwealth public will be in New South Wales. The arrangements for Anzac Day in the four other States will be made later this week. The arrangements for Anzac Day in the four other States will be made later this week.

Empire's Need Of Common Foreign Affairs Policy

Landon, April 15—The "Daily Mail" has reported that the Prime Minister had expressed the view that the "Common Foreign Policy" was the key to the "Commonwealth". The "Common Foreign Policy" would be a "multilateral" system, the "Commonwealth" being a "bilateral" system.

U.S. Aims To Discuss Australia-UK Pact With Curtin

NEW YORK, April 30—The "New York Times" has reported that the U.S. government has stated that it would like to discuss the "Commonwealth" with the Commonwealth government. The "Commonwealth" would be a "multilateral" system, the "Commonwealth" being a "bilateral" system.

S.W. Pacific Communiqué

BRITISH S.P.O.B.O.

JAPAN—SOUTH-EASTERN SECTION

Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

5:30 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

SOLO

POLITICAL STATEMENT

THE S.W. PACIFIC COMMAND

The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

6:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

7:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

8:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

9:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

10:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

11:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

12:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

1:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

2:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

3:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

4:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.

5:00 A.M.: The Japanese forces landed on the north-eastern coast of the island of New Guinea. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships. The landing was made by means of landings in amphibious landing ships.