ITALIANS STILL RETREATING

BEING HARASSED IN ERITREA

"WAY NOW OPENED TO EAST AFRICA"

(From Our Own Correspondent)

LONDON. Monday.

ITALIAN FORCES DRIVEN OUT OF KASSALA, ON THE FRONTIER BETWEEN THE SUDAN AND ERITREA, ARE STILL RETREATING AND BEING HARASSED BY BRITISH TROOPS.

Having crossed the frontier, the British forces have penetrated some 40 miles into Eritrea and have opened the way to Italian East Africa.

For the reason that Kassala is regarded as very important, and is likely to lead to serious results for the Italians.

British patrols are reported to be active around Gallabat, near the Eritrean border, in the Sudan, which the Italians occupied recently, and tribunes are making continual assertions of the Italian victory.

Simultaneously with these activities, British attempts to organize an offensive against the Italians are being accelerated.

The ex-Empress of Abyssinia, with her daughter, Princess Thalia, and Princess Tsepa, and her party, is expected today to arrive by sea in Alexandria, to join the ex-Emperor Haile Selassie, at Khartoum.

Abyssinia's Crown jewels have already been packed in preparation for the re-occupation of the Court of Adulis, by the capital of Abyssinia.

Rome Radio is apparently preparing the Italians for bad news from East Africa, which is likely to show that Italian East Africa was cut off from Italy.

DARING FLIGHT INTO ABYSSINIA

The Italian Government is said to be aware that the German forces are increasing their operations against the British in Abyssinia.

It is understood that 750 German aircraft are being used to help the invading army.

A small staff of British officers is said to have been sent to the outposts of the British Empire, to organize the defense against the Italians.

DAMNED SELF-PROCLAIMED KING

Wild Country.

'The British are in the dark as to the name of the Italian self-proclaimed king, who claims to be the rightful ruler of the Abyssinian Empire.
