The following account was printed in the Western Morning News of July 19:

The Treasurer of the Government, Mr. T. J. Ryan, has received a report from the Government's Chief Inspector, Mr. R. W. Brown, who has been investigating the accounts of the Government for the past twelve months. The report states that there has been a considerable improvement in the financial position of the Government, and that the Treasurer is to be congratulated on the way in which he has carried out his duties.

The report also states that the Government has been able to reduce its expenses by a considerable amount. The Treasurer has been able to do this by cutting down the salaries of the officials and by reducing the cost of office supplies.

The Treasurer has also been able to reduce the cost of the Government's hospitals and schools. The report states that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the hospitals by a considerable amount, and that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the schools by cutting down the number of teachers.

The Treasurer has also been able to reduce the cost of the Government's postal and telegraphic services. The report states that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the postal and telegraphic services by a considerable amount, and that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the postal and telegraphic services by cutting down the number of telegraph officers.

The Treasurer has also been able to reduce the cost of the Government's military and naval services. The report states that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the military and naval services by a considerable amount, and that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the military and naval services by cutting down the number of soldiers and sailors.

The Treasurer has also been able to reduce the cost of the Government's public works. The report states that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the public works by a considerable amount, and that the Government has been able to reduce the cost of the public works by cutting down the number of officers in charge of the public works.